Holdem Manager 2 ranks as one of the most popular pi eces of software for online poker players for a good reason. It#39;s well put t ogether, stable, fully featured, and constantly being updated with more features

. The program imports hand history text files from almost all of the major onlin e poker rooms and compiles them into a PostgreSQL database. From there, it can p rovide multi-layered reports based on any situation or scenario thanks to an inn umerable number of features.

The Pro version of Holdem Manager 2 costsR$89.99 for Hold em or Omaha, or you can payR$159.99 and get both forms of poker. The Pro version allows impor ting of hands from games at any stakes. Each purchased registration code is vali d on two computers.

Possibly the most useful feature in HM2 is its extremely powerful Heads

-Up Display. There are hundreds of stats you can put into your HUD and you can e ven configure multiple ones to come up for certain situations. For example, you can have a HUD for full ring play on PokerStars and a completely different setup for six-max tournaments on Everest Poker. When you click on the HUD overlay for yourself or a villain, you#39;ll be given a stat dialog box with supplemental information to view.

A new feature of HM2 is that NoteCaddy notes can be displayed in your H

UD. These notes are generated automatically and you can drill down to the actual hands that generated them while you are playing. There are free and premium ver sions available.

Another option instead of Hold#39;em Manager 2 is the new HM Cloud, wh ich is in Alpha testing. HM Cloud will allow you to store your database on its s ervers and remotely allows you to use the HUD and database on your computer. Sin ce the database itself will not be on your computer, all of the processing, stat
