>>>The outcomes of gambling games may be determined by chance alone, as in the purely random activity of a tossed pair of dice or of th e ball on a roulette wheel, or by physical skill, training, or prowess in athlet ic contests, or by a combination of strategy and chance. The rules by which gamb ling games are played sometimes serve to confuse the relationship between the co mponents of the game, which depend on skill and chance, so that some players may be able to manipulate the game to serve their own interests. Thus, knowledge of the game is useful for playing poker or betting on horse racing but is of very little use for purchasing lottery tickets or playing slot machines . >gambling , the betting or staking of something of value, with conscious ness of risk and hope of gain, on the outcome of a game, a contest, or an uncert ain event whose result may be determined by chance or accident or have an unexpe cted result by reason of the bettor's miscalculation.
>Prevalence of principal forms >A rough estimate of the amount of money legally wagered annually in the world is aboutR$10 trillion (illegal gambling may exceed even this figure). In terms of total turnover, lotteries are the leading form of gambling worldwide. S tate-licensed or state-operated lotteries expanded rapidly in Europe and the Uni ted States during the late 20th century and are widely distributed throughout mo st of the world. Organized football (soccer) pools can be found in nearly all Eu ropean countries, several South American countries, Australia, and a few African and Asian countries. Most of these countries also offer either state-organized or state-licensed wagering on other sporting events.
>Betting on horse racing is a leading form of gambling in English-speaki ng countries and in France. It also exists in many other countries. Wherever hor se racing is popular, it has usually become a major business, with its own newsp apers and other periodicals, extensive statistical services, self-styled experts who sell advice on how to bet, and sophisticated communication networks that fu rnish information to betting centres, bookmakers and their employees, and worker
